MEMBERSHIP INFORMATION

Online renewals of Legion Membership now account for about 30% of all renewals. For those Legionnaires who have not used this option, it may be worth investigating. You can access the Legion website by using the following url: www.legion.org/renew. Select any of the prompts that are labeled RENEW and follow the instructions on the site. Payment may only be made with a credit card – Visa, Mastercard, or Discover. If you prefer to pay with cash or check, your only option is to mail your renewal to the Post or to pay in person when you next visit the Post. In either case, please also submit your renewal notice with your payment to insure accurate processing of your renewal.

The Legion website does offer several helpful options that you may wish to take advantage of:

- You may select automatic renewal of your membership using a debit/credit card
- You may select the option to have any renewal notices delivered by email

If one or both options are of interest to you, you can get a head start on next years renewal by registering on the "myLegion.org Members Only" web portal. This portal can be accessed by clicking on the band at the top of the renewal page for Mylegion.org.

For the coming membership year, we hope to reduce or eliminate the old aggravating issue of members receiving renewal notices after they have renewed their membership for the year. We are now able to update your renewal on the National website faster after receiving it at the post. In the past, there could be long delays in this process due to having to mail paper forms to the Department who would then process the information and send it to National. This caused extensive delays and was responsible for most of the problems. If you do not renew online, you can help us greatly by mailing or bringing your renewal to the post promptly after receiving it in the mail. The closer to the "Please Reply By date" that we receive the renewal, the more likely the payment will not be processed in time to prevent the next renewal notice.

Please verify and update as necessary all your personal information. A current mailing address is most important, but of equal value is an email address and a phone number, preferably a cell phone. This information will greatly enhance our ability to contact you should the need arise.

Remember that the online renewal option is the quickest, most accurate, and most likely to prevent additional renewal notices from being produced.
